Google Search I'm Feeling Lucky

Not your standard general knowledge quiz, this is a cryptic challenge where you literally MUST cheat! You have to use the internet to find your answers!

Each question is a 3-part conundrum which will absolutely require you to find information via Google (or similar) to piece together the final answer.

A question will be displayed on screen for a limited time... so make notes, take a screenshot, photograph or whatever you can to retain that information. You'll then be sent into your breakout rooms to try and find the answer with your team using or anything else!

There is a time limit depending on the difficulty of the question, but the quicker you answer, the higher you score!

We had a blast, it was so much fun – thank you so much for the wonderful event!
