Laptops at the ready, get your spoofing hat on.....there's been a murder!! This Agatha Christie spoof finds us in the dusty old Dingleberry estate.....which sits on a secret diamond mine! Guests join the dark and dodgy solicitor as they announce the contents of the Lord Dingleberry's will to the assembled family and friends.

Our virtual murder mysteries retain all the professional performance fun with actors playing the character parts, with guests attempting to spot the clues, join up all the dots and ultimately figure out whodunit!

PLEASE NOTE:

Our Murder Mysteries are written and performed with traditional British humour and light-hearted banter laced with double-entendres a-plenty and so we would not recommend them to clients who may deem this inappropriate for their guests.

"The night was a huge success! The team were amazing and all my colleagues really enjoyed it." Rackspace
