Designed to sit comfortably within your conference environment, The Bigger Picture provides an excellent teamwork and communication forum for your entire group. Drawing on the delegates' conceptual and spatial talents, small groups work collaboratively to recreate a picture from limited information and resources.

Collectively each small group/team will work together to recreate a work of art - or bespoke design to your specification. Each team is given a miniaturised section of the artwork comprised of several individual tiles. Using only the equipment provided and within a fixed timeframe they will scale up and produce their contribution to the finished full-size artwork. The groups will recreate the masterpiece in non-toxic, washable acrylic paint with suitable protective clothing provided.

At the finale, all guests gather to assemble the sections of individual tiles within a framework to complete the picture – quite often with hilarious results! This high-quality event emphasises the need for clear and accurate communication, encouraging people to work together knowing their individual talents have played an important part in creating 'The Bigger Picture'.

"Such a great event and made easy for us as it was facilitated in it's entirety. The result being two very "artistic" pictures, but what this represents is, One Goal and One Team - a very thought provoking yet fun activity!"
